DEWEY WELCOME CHANGED

THE ADMIRAL ASKED TO BE HERE ONE DAY EARLIER.

PARADES CAN THEN BE HELD ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY-PLANS FOR THE

MOVEMENTS OF THE FLEET. The Plan and Scope Committee of the Dewey Celebration Committee held an open meeting in the Mayor's office yesterday to consider the reports of the different sub-committees and to hear from the special committee appointed to shave down the former reports asking for portions of the appropriation. The reports first put in made a total of nearly $190,000 required, with only $150,000 to draw from.

Previous to the meeting Admiral John Philip, commanding the New-York Navy Yard, and Captain Robley D. Evans had a long conference with Acting Mayor Guggenheimer. Capeate Evans had a communication from the Navy Department, and both officers were invited to be present at the meeting. There were also present Major General Roe, General Howard Carroll, Herbert F. Gunnison, Vernon M. Davis, W. J. K. Kenny, Lewis Nixon, Alderman Muh, Colonel Guilford Hurry and Secretary Warren W. Foster. Vernon M. Davis was in attendance as proxy for Commissioner Kane, chairman of the Committee on Stands, and Mr. Kenny for Park Commissioner Clausen, of the Committee on Decorations.

In the absence of General Butterfield, who is sick. Acting Mayor Guggenheimer was chosen temporary chairman.

Mr. Nixon presented the report of the committee appointed to pare down the amounts asked by the different sub-committees. The report apportions the amount of appropriation as General Roe objected to the cutting down of the appropriation for the military parade. He said that there was a serious question if the $20,000, the amount first asked for, would be sufficient, and it was certain that the reduced amount would be insufficient for the entertainment of the visiting organizations. He said he had heard from the 5th Maryland and from four companies from Texas, and expected in the near future to hear from other bodies that would bring the total at least to ten thousand. He believed that in 1889 it cost the city $142 a day for each of the visiting soldiers for subsistence, and at least $1 a day will be needed for the soldiers coming to join in the welcome to Dewey,

General Roe suggested that instead of employing contractors to feed the men it would be wiser to obtain from each commanding officer the number of his command, and to hand over to him $2 for each man, being at the rate of $1 a day each, and let the men eat and sleep where they choose.

It was finally decided to let the further discussion of the matter stand over to a future meeting, when General Roe will be better informed as to the number to be provided for.

General Roe then took up the resolution offered by Controller Coler at the last meeting of the committee, that the celebration last three days, instead of two, and asked that a vote be taken on it. The vote was unanimous against the proposition.

General Roe explained that the present date set for the celebration to begin on September would carry the parades over Sunday. He suggested that a communication be sent to Admiral Dewey asking him to make Thursday, September 28, the date of his arrival, so that the parades might be held on Friday and Saturday, instead of Saturday and Monday. A resolution of the committee authorized Mr. Guggenheimer to make such request of Admiral Dewey by wire. This cable message was sent: Admiral George Dewey, Villefranche, France.

RANDOLPH GUGGENHEIMER, Acting Mayor.

Commissioner Nixon introduced Captain Evans as coming from the Navy Department, and Mr. Guggenheimer said that he would be pleased to hear any suggestions from Captain Evans. Captain Evans said he was not present to make any suggestions, but had been ordered to learn the wishes of the committee and report to make any suggestions, but had been ordered to learn the wishes of the committee and report them to the Navy Department. He said the suggestion of a naval programme made by General Butterfield, that the ships anchor outside the Bay, would not meet the approval of Admiral Sampson. General Carroll, chairman of the Committee on Naval Parade, said that General Butterfield's programme was only in Committee on Navai Farade, said that Butterfield's programme was only in igh. Captain Evans and General Carroll short consultation, and then Captain presented this plan, which he said would

Evans presented this plan, which he said would satisfy the Navy Department:

The North Atlantic fleet under Admiral Sampson to assemble at Tompkinsville in time to welcome Admiral Dewey; to be anchored in column, with a berth at the head of the column for the Olympia. Rear Admiral Sampson will call on Admiral Dewey and receive him, as directed by the Secretary of the Navy, in the name of the National Government. On the day after the arrival of Admiral Dewey, the fleet to get under way and proceed up the North get under way and proceed up the North River, Admiral Sampson's ships acting as escort to Admiral Dewey. The Olympia will salute at Grant's tomb, then turn and anchor off Fortyond-st.; the ships of Admiral Sampson's fleet to perform the same evolution and anchor in succession in the North River, as they arrived in position, forming thus a combined force com-manded by Admiral Dewey, the fleet to be li-luminated at night, and in position to land the naval brigade on the following day at One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st., for the land pa-

LACKAWANNA ROAD'S DECORATIONS. The Lackawanna Railroad was asked about a week ago by General Butterfield to unite with the Executive Committee in the decorations in honor of the return of Admiral Dewey by a display of electric lights and flags at the end of its North River pier. President Truesdale replied at once that the road would gladly co-operate to make Dewey Day a success. Yesterday a committee of officials of the road submitted to Secretary Foster, of the Executive Committee, its plan of decorating. Stretching across the entire width of the Hoboken

Stretching across the entire width of the Hoboken terminal it is proposed to erect an enormous electric sign forming the words:

Welcome to Dewey-Lackawanna Railroad."

The letters of this sign will be in white outlined by electric lights, of which more than seven hundred will be used.

The Executive Committee was also informed that the Lackawanna Railroad will make for Dewey Day a round trip rate of a fare and one-third from Palpoints on the system distant from New-York 25 miles or more, and regular excursion fares from points distant less than 125 miles.

MERCY FOR DEWEY! VOICE OF WARNING RAISED AGAINST MORD THAN A TWO DAYS' WELCOME.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: I sincerely hope that The Tribune will raise its voice against the ill advised attempts of some of our overenthusiastic citizens to extend the Dewey reception ceremonies over three days. Two days are ample for any display of admiration which the city could possibly desire to make; two days are certainly the limit during which Admiral Dewey should be expected to keep himself on parade duty, as it were, and two days, I venture to predict, are without doubt the longest time during which the public enthusiasm can be kept up to a which the public enthusiasm can be kept up to a white heat. If the reception extends into the third day, it will surely dwindle away in an anticlimax as disappointing to the city as it will be embarrassing to the man whom we all want to honor. The rather dismai way in which the famous Columbian celebration in this city fizzled out at the lumbian celebration in this city fizzled out at the end, although it began splendlidly, was solely due to the fact that too much was attempted, and the people grew heartly tired of it before it was all over. Let us run no such risk of spoiling the Dewey affair. Let us have two days filled to overflowing with the thoroughness and genuineness of our welcome to the hero of Manila Bay, and then let it stop short and let the modest Dewey depart before we bore him, and, like a man rising from a feast before he is satiated, with a relish in his mouth and a willingness for more.

OLYMPIA'S MEN TO LAND FOR DRILL PUR-POSES AT VILLEFRANCHE.

Nice, Aug. 23.-Admiral Dewey and the officers and men of the Olympia, now at Villefranche, near here, are already anticipating their New-York reception, and are preparing for their part in it. The Admiral has received permission from the authorities to land the Olympia battalion at Villefranche for drill purposes dur-

The other transfer was for a portion of the estate of the late William Cullen Bryant, which is now owned by Haroid Goodwin, a grandson of the poet. The purchaser is Edith Cooper Bryce, the wife of General Lloyd S. Bryce. The estate, which comprises a fine view of the ocean, consists of about eighty acres, and was sold for $37,70.40. MR. MOODY'S GRANDCHILD DEAD.

POST CONFERENCE AT NORTHFIELD SUSPENDED YESTERDAY-VISITORS AT THE FUNERAL

East Northfield, Mass., Aug. 23 (Special).-The morning service of the Post Conference was sus pended this forenoon, and the conference visitors united with the townspeople in showing their sympathy for Mr. Moody and his family by tending the funeral of his grandchild, Irene Moody, who was four years old on Monday. The service was held on the lawn in front of Mr. Moody's house, nearly five hundred people being in attendance. The Rev. Dr. R. A. Torrey officiated. The Mount Hermon Quartet, the members of the Esty chorus and students of Mr. Moody'e two schools who are staying in town furnished the singing. The Rev. Dr. Torrey read the Scripture selections and made a short address. Short addresses were also made by the Rev. Dr. T. A. Pierson and the Rev. G. Campbell Morgan. Prayers during the service ere offered by the Rev. Dr. H. C. Mable and H. B. Silliman. Just before the close of the service Mr. Moody arose and said:

B. Silliman. Just before the close of the service Mr. Moody arose and said:

Mr. Torrey, I would like to say a few words if I can trust myself. I have been thinking this morning about the old baldheaded prophet so many hundred years ago waiting in the valley of the Jordan for the charlot of God to take him home, and again the charlot of God came down in the Connecticut Valley yesterday morning about 6:30 o'clock and took Irene home. For five months she was sick, and for days out in California last winter I kept my satchel packed ready to go at a moment's call, but I prayed the Father that he might bring her back to Northfield, that she might go from this valley, and God heard the prayer.

Irene has finished her course; her work was well wrought on earth. She has accomplished more than many in their threescore years and ten. We would not have her back, although her voice was the sweetest voice I ever heard on earth. She never met me once since she was three months old until the last few days of pain without a smile. But Christ had some service for her above. My life has been made much better by her ministry here on earth. She has made us all better. She has been a blessing to all the conferences here this year. She has brought a feeling of sympathy into the meetings such as we never had before. During the Young Men's Conference I tried to keep it secret, but while I was on the platform my heart was ever here at the house. On the day after the conference closed she left for the Addrondacks, and we feared we might never see her again. During the Woman's Conference my heart was yonder in the mountains at Saranac. The last night to final conference, while I was trying to speak to the young women words of cheer and encouragement, I was constantly thinking of the little girl, and within twelve hours I was by her side.

last few days have been blessed days for me her side.

The last few days have been blessed days for me. I have learned many new and precious lessons. She was very fond of riding with me, and on Monday morning she asked me to take her riding, and at 6.30 o'clock we were riding together. She never looked more beautiful. She was just ripening for Heaven. She was too fair for this earth. I thank God this morning for the hope of immortality. I know I shall see her in the morning, and (to Mr. Torrey) your Elizabeth, more beautiful in her resurrection glory than she ever was here. I want to thank you for myself, my family, and Major Whittle for your sympathy. We have learned to love you more than ever before.

Mr. Moody stopped several times, nearly overone with emotion. The Benediction was sung by the students of the schools. The burial was private, at 5:30 in the afternoon. The Rev. G. Campbell Morgan spoke again in the evening on The Table Talk of the Son of Man at the House of

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

FILIPINOS AND INDEPENDENCE. EVIDENCE THAT THE LARGE MAJORITY ARE OP-POSED TO THE PRESENT INSURRECTION.

To the Editor of The Tribune Sir: In to-day's paper I find an editorial on "Independence." It is a criticism on Professor Norton's Ashfield speech urging that the Filipinos should be given their independence. You state that this would be unjust because only a ity" of the inhabitants are in revolt and 'vast majority of the inhabitants" favor our efforts to put down the insurgents. Now, in a matter of such importance we cannot take facts In "Harper's Weekly" (August 19 page 820) is a letter from John F. Bass. He is the imperialist correspondent of an imperialist paper, He writes: "The whole population of the islands sympathizes with the insurgents"; "in every part the islands where our ships have gone they we found only hostile natives, who acknowledge allegiance save to the insurgent government .

"the people of the Philippines do not woverned by us."
An Army officer, in "The Army and Navy Journal," says, "every town and village will wave mal," says, "every town and village will wave with white flags for the time being, but when we have passed the waters roll in behind, and it is as if we had never been there." These quotations are typical of much evidence published from time to time. I will not assume that you deliberately ignore it, but you certainly do not answer it. Can you answer it? If this evidence is true your argument is shattered. If you claim that it is false, on what counter evidence do you has your claim? Will you meet this question fairly and squarely? and squarely? Plainfield, N. J., August 21, 1899.

[Mr. Andre, the Belgian Consul at Manila, a competent and impartial authority, declared soon after the outbreak of Aguinaldo's insurrec tion that the natives as a rule did not desire independence. "The present rebellion," he said, represents only one-half of 1 per cent of the inhabitants, and it would not be right to oblige 6,000,000 people to submit to 30,000 rebels." Professor Dean C. Worcester, who was selected as a member of the Philippine Commission because of his established reputation as one of the foremost authorities on the subject and a man of unchallenged accuracy and truthfulness, wrote from Manila on June 3 last as follows: "It is a great mistake to suppose we are fighting the Filipinos as a whole. At least 80 per cent of the population detests the war, and the only serious trouble is in a few Tagalog provinces in Luzon. . . Even among the Tagalogs the common people want peace.

The war is kept up by a few leaders, and only with the greatest difficulty." On June 12 last the Manila correspondent of "The New-York Evening Post," a paper certainly not to be suspected of imperialistic bias, told how those few leaders kept up the war. One prominent citizen of Manila who went to Aguinaldo's camp to urge the making of peace was "summarily headed by order of Aguinaldo. These," continued the correspondent, "are the methods used by the insurgent leaders to stamp out all opposition to the insurrection. A man of influence who asked for peace was beheaded, the common men or citizen who refused to fight with the insurgents had his throat cut. In this way the insurrection was made strong." The Tribune's estimate of the number of Filipinos not in sympathy with Aguinaldo, in the article to which our correspondent takes exception, was "the vast majority-four-fifths." That exactly tallies with Professor Worcester's "80 per cent," and falls far short of the estimate made by Mr.

BODIES OF JOHN BROWN'S MEN.

the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The Tribune has recently announced that the remains of seven of the ill fated men who followed John Brown into the "jaws of death" at Harper's Ferry are to be reinterred at North Elba, and that President McKinley will be present. There has been question whether the remains are actually those of the fil starred associates who invaded Virginia. The writer has often passed the burial spot on the Shenandoah where it was generally known some of Brown's men had been interred. It was about half a mile above the town, on the south side of the Shenandoah. The statement in Tribune of August 13 that the identification had been made by Dr. Featherstonhaugh, of Washington establishes the fact beyond the possibility of do The doctor has paid particular attention to the subwriter spent part of a summer upon the Blue Ridge for Pittsburg to-morrow evening, one day earlier than they originally intended. roughly made knives are among the rence. The knives and spears are supposed to have been made at the cable upon the Maryland Heights where Brown and his men gathered.

While on the subject of the Brown raid, it may be pertinent to add that some years ago facts came to my knowledge which may be interesting to mention now. During a summer's sojourn in the Adirondacks I visited Phineas Norton, a prominent citizen and noted abolitionist in the Keene valley. From him I gathered some interesting information. At his house Brown spent the last night he slept alive in the Great North Woods. Norton would not admit that Brown had communicated the object of his going away, but said, as they parted at the gate: "Watch The Tribune, and you will see where I am going, and what I intend to do." Right here we parted," said Norton. The reinterment of the remains of his men by the side of their chief will be a simple act of justice. The occasion is looked forward to with much interest.

YOUNG MEN ARE PREFERRED.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: Your articles in issue of 18th inst. on "The Ministry Overcrowded" are worthy of attention. Your authorities differ in opinion, and as a clergyman observing the state of things I desire to say a word. There is doubtless much truth in the assertions of the Rev. Mr. Pratt. Men of maturity, intellectual and spiritual, see churches right under their eyes closed to them. And why? Because young men are preferred. In no other profession is a premium put on youth and lack of experience as in the ministry. When the hair begins to turn gray and the top of the head becomes a little baid one | From The Chicago Post. loses caste, as it were, in the ministry. In law or medicine signs of age inspire confidence.

Of course, children and youth are the most promising subjects of Gospel influence. The young people in our Christian Endeavor societies regard a young minister of twenty-five or thirty as mature enough for them. In fact, owing to advantages enjoyed, he is ahead of many much older than himself. So it comes to pass that men of fifty or more who feel as young as ever they did, and who realize that they just begin to know their great work, see doors closed to them which they would gladly enter. No wonder that ministers often are reluctant to see their sons follow in their steps, and hesitate as to urging other people's sons to seek the ministry. Some frankly tell young men that if they become preachers they must be willing to be cast aside at fifty, and we have heard the remark made that it would be good to close our theological seminaries a few years, that unemployed material might be used by our churches. Too many young men practically crowd into uselessness many worthy pastors who are older. We need good Christian laymen, merchants, farmers, mechanics, as well as ministers.

DEFILEMENT OF BEACHES. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: If it is true that the immense amount of offal cast up for miles along the shores of our Jersey summer resorts now for days together is the dumpings from New-York City, that state of things should be stopped. We are told that the dumpings are carried out twenty miles to sea and dropped. If currents such as the present ones spring up the waves here toss up at the feet of thousands of visitors an endless succession of brooms, bread crusts, toys, trunks, barrels, hats and dead bodies of animals. Among these things the thousands of bathers must take their constitutional. It is a constant dance to avoid struck by sticks, and disgusting to bathe in a froth of fragments of unguessable origin. Worst of all, there comes at nightfall in heavy

Worst of all, there comes at nightfall in heavy weather a frightful odor, surgesting the Campagna and its deadly air. Windows must be tightly closed, and even that is not a preventive. Dainty persons, who can, doubtless pack up and leave. New-York may not be responsible for all of this, however. Dead things of the sea itself may be massed up the inlets by these currents, but dead things of the sea are not in evidence among the great mass of rotting flotsam lying out under the sun; there are many dead things of the land. New-York should not perpetrate such an outrage and New-Fork should not grand it. Why should such quantities of wood be floated away to damage somebody? Many poor persons would be glad to have it.

THE RENNES FARCE-TRAGEDY. From The Washington Times.

While ignobly beaten and routed at every turn, the prosecution, which now means nothing but the cabal of guilty generals and officials, has by no means given up the fight, and, miserable to relate, the consensus of opinion among the foreign press correspondents in Rennes is that a conviction is much more probable than a verdict of not guilty.

A HOPEFUL VIEW. From The Milwaukee Sentinel.

From The Milwaukee Sentinel.

There is nothing in the testimony thus far given to make anybody think Dreyfus will be found guilty. There is in the behaviour of the court martial nothing which makes his conviction seem probable. Persons who are afraid of a second conviction should look back a little way. When the case was transferred from the criminal chamber to the full Court of Cassation people supposed it was in the hands of men unfriendly to Dreyfus, and yet the vote for revision was unanimous. A RACIAL HATRED.

From The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The feeling is growing that while the majority of the people of France are undoubtedly against the acquittal of Dreyfus, it is not because they are animated by a belief that he is guilty, but rather because of racial hatred and a fear lest his being purged of the crime of treason will reflect on the honor of the army. THE KEYNOTE OF THE TRIAL.

From The Baltimore American.

From The Baltimore American.

In a letter published not very long ago in France the writer declared that if Dreyfus were twice as innocent, or had suffered ten times as much, the undeserved suffering of one man would still be as nothing compared to the safety of the nation. In that sentence lies the keynote of the whole mystery (mystery as far as other countries are concerned) of the Dreyfus case—the subordination of the individual and the exaltation of an idea. THE BURDEN OF PROOF.

From The Buffalo Courier.

From The Buffalo Courier.

The impression has been produced that it is necessary for the accused to demonstrate conclusively his innocence, while the prosecution is not absolutely required to prove the charges brought against him. It is also difficult to understand in this country how the president even of a court martial could permit a witness to express a mere belief as to whether the prisoner is guilty or is innocent of the crime of which he is accused, without using his authority to stop or prevent improper utterances of this kind.
